Why Use a Green Screen?

- Getting young students (or older students!) to engage with remote learning can be challenging
- Using a green screen can help capture young students' attention and keep them more engaged in remote learning sessions
- Green screen activities can be used to mimic the “hands-on” activities we would do in the classroom
- It's fun and adds a little bit of magic to a remote learning session!

How Can I Use a Green Screen?

- You can interact with the green screen using props
- You can make things “appear” and “disappear” on the green screen
- You can project pictures onto the green screen and interact with the pictures

What Do I Need to Get Started?

- A green screen
  - You can use green felt, green butcher paper, a green plastic tablecloth
- A computer
- Zoom

Using Zoom

To use a green screen in Zoom:

1. Open Zoom
2. Click on the arrow next to the camera
3. Click "Choose virtual background"
4. Click "Add image"
5. Upload a photo from your computer

Using Google Meet

- Some districts do not allow teachers to use Zoom
- Using a green screen through Google Meet is a bit more complicated, but it is possible!

Step 1: Open Zoom and turn off your camera

Step 2: Open Google Meet and turn off your camera

Step 3: Choose “present now” and “a window”

Step 4: Choose “Zoom meeting” and “Share”

Step 5: Now you're sharing your virtual background!

Google Meet

To toggle between virtual background pictures:

Select
"Choose virtual background"
in Zoom

To toggle between virtual background pictures:

- You can toggle between pictures here.
- BUT your students will see this whole screen

To toggle between virtual background pictures:

- Move your "Zoom Meeting" screen down to the bottom of your computer screen.
- Now, you can see all 3 tabs, but your students only see the Zoom Meeting
